Within These Doors

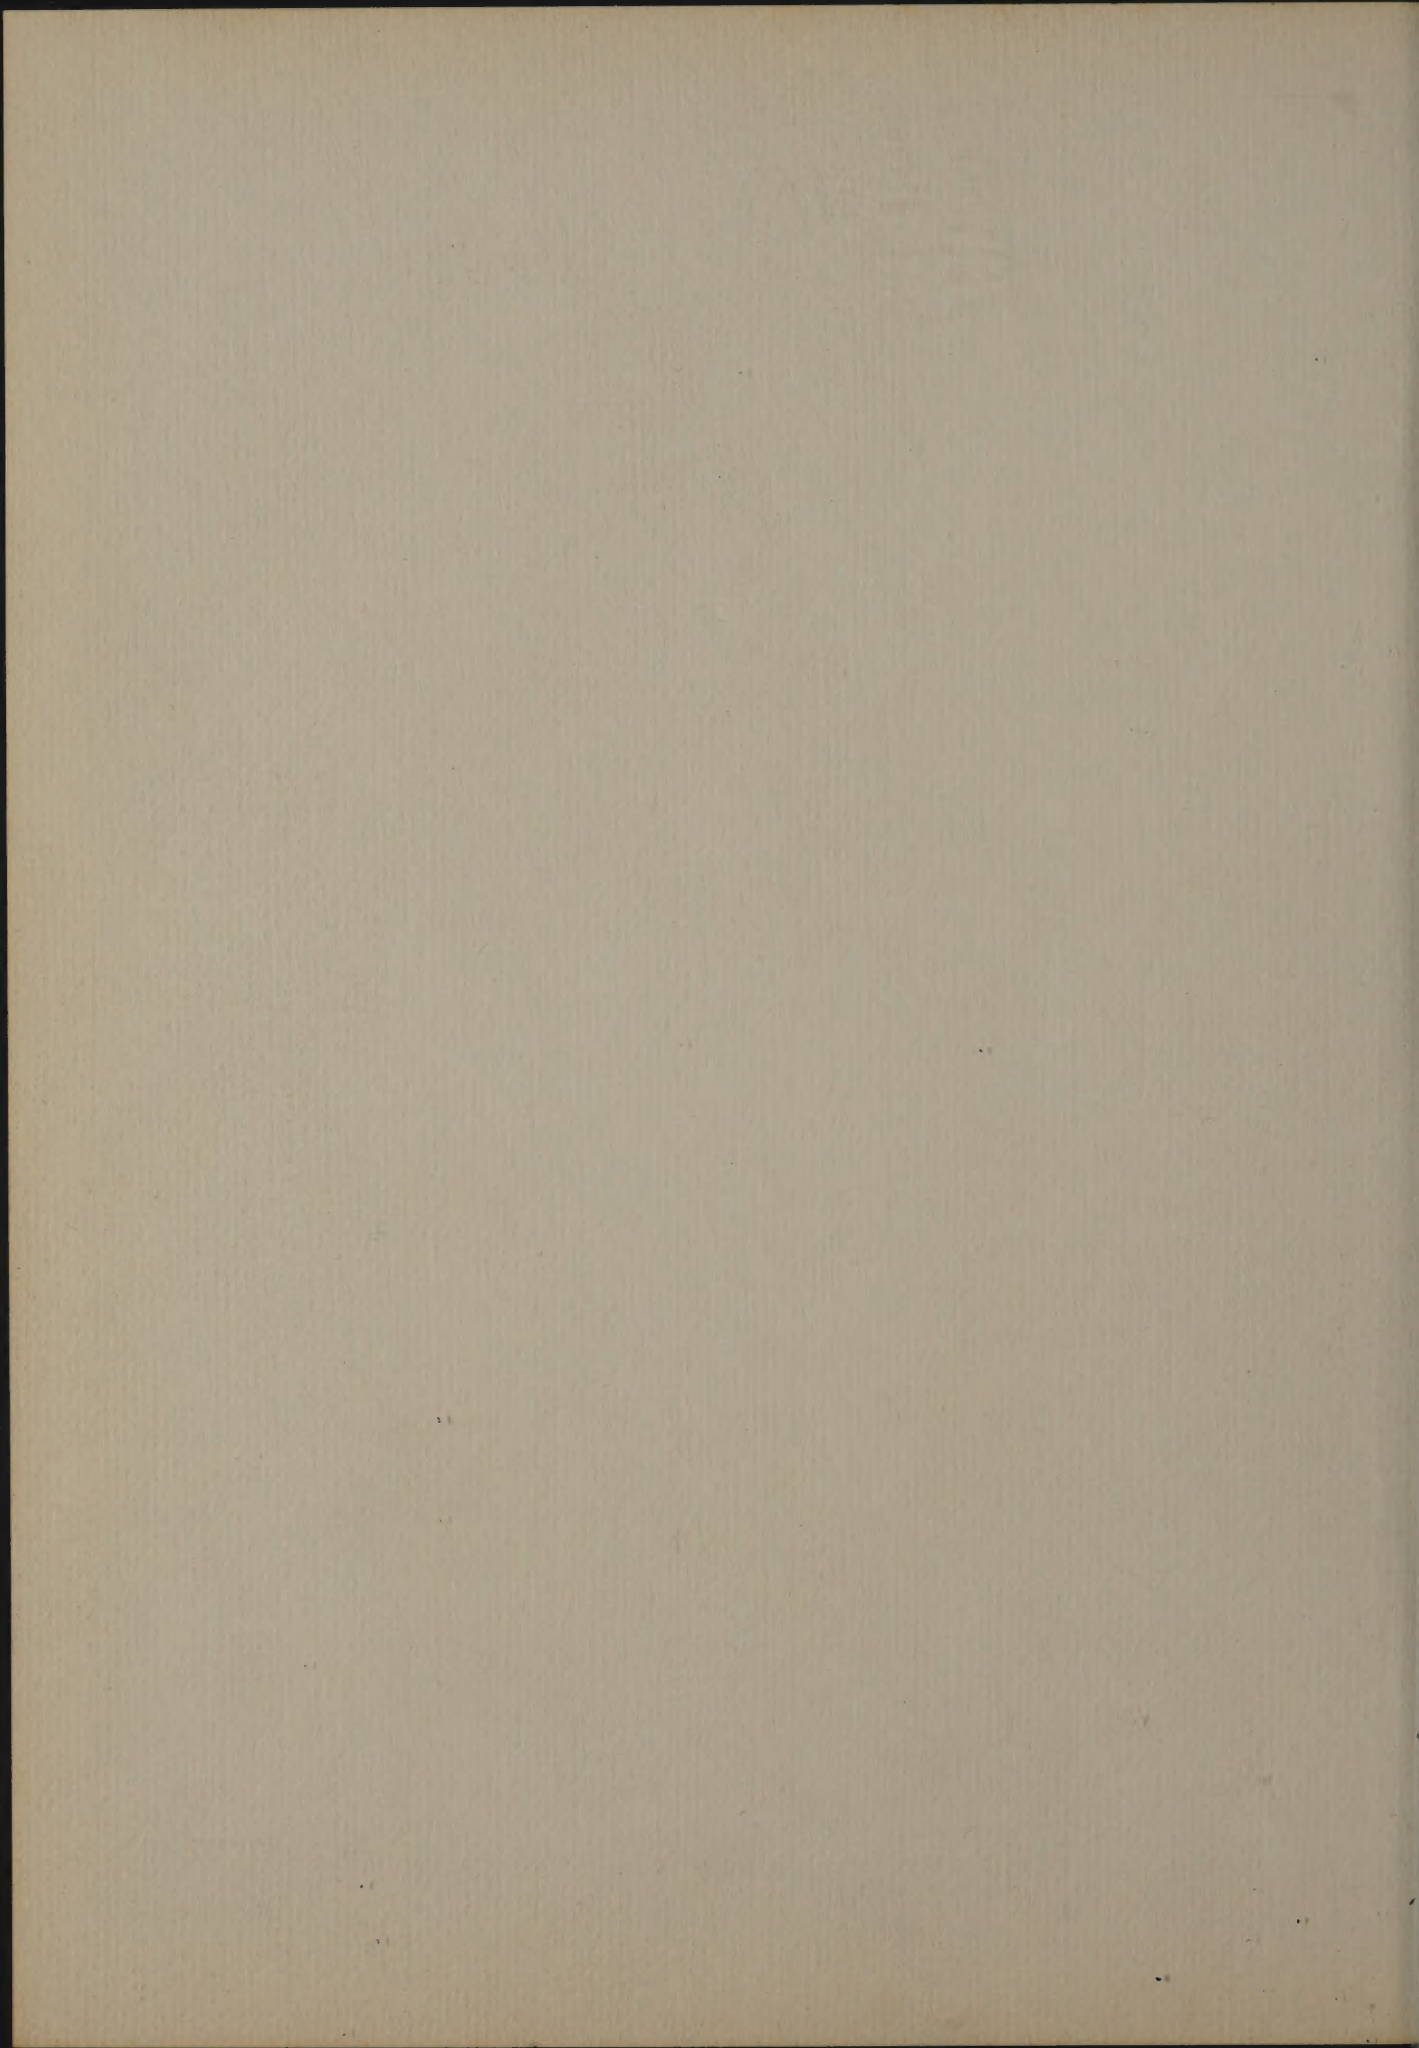

3 1833 07522 9887

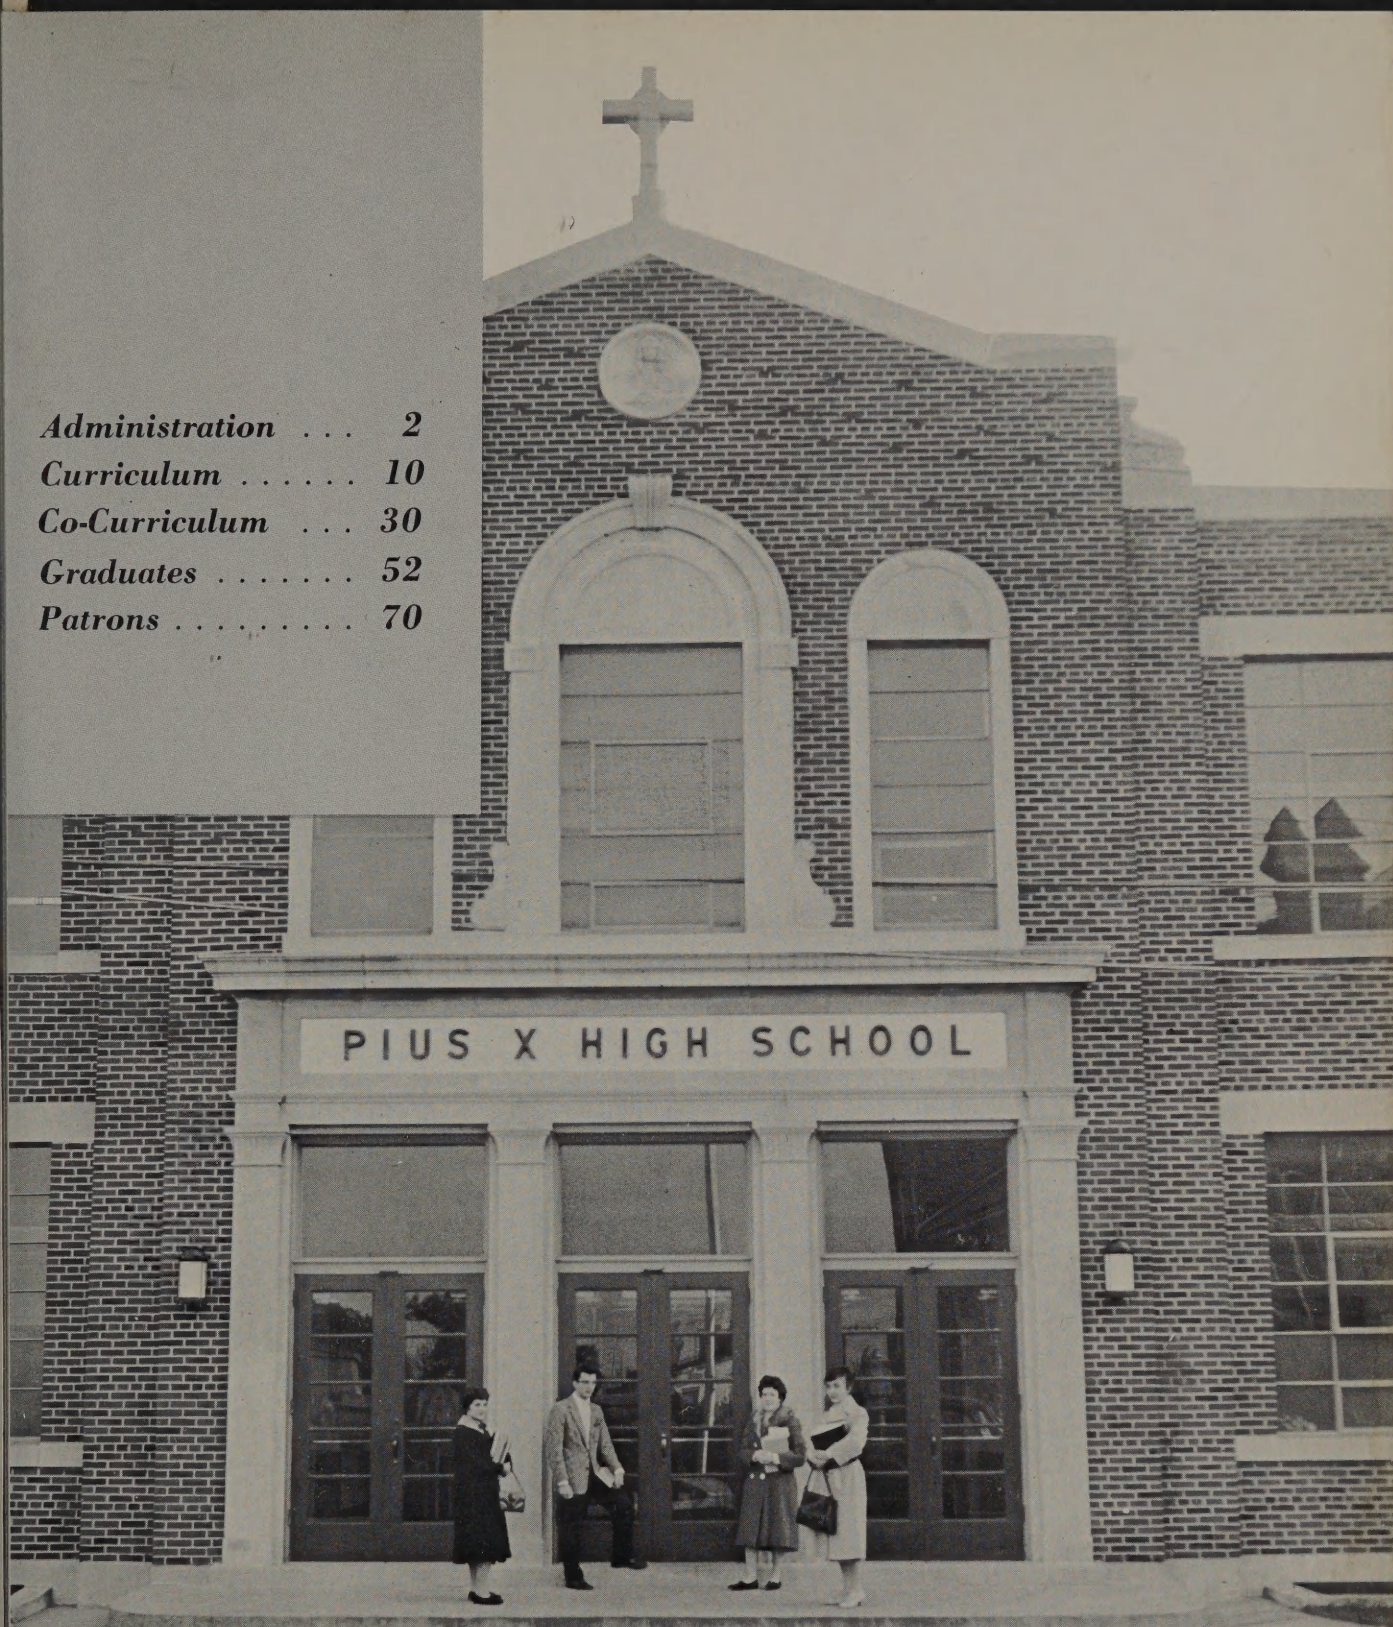

O Teacher of Christian Truth, our Beloved Exemplar, Pope Pius X, of happy memory, we walk through the doors of our school (yours and the students'), striving in our four short years to become living seals of purity, piety, and loyalty — pure of mind and body, heart and soul; pious in that we place the spiritual above the temporal, endeavoring to restore all things in Christ; loyal to our Church and to its principles, to our country and to its ideals. Aid us, Beloved Patron, to inculcate these virtues into our lives so that passing through the doors of Pius X High School, we may go into life undaunted champions of the Catholic faith and loyal citizens of this great country of ours.

To you, dear Pope of the Eucharist, we dedicate our yearbook — hoping it will serve as an encomium, made manifest by the existence of Pius X High School, by its active principles, and by its accomplishments.

. . . A Priest and Teacher as well! Since his arrival at Pius X High School two years ago, Father Loeper has conscientiously assumed the many responsibilities of his triple position. His wholesome enthusiasm, his unremitting devotion to duty, his firm but gentle manner have won the love and respect of all. We salute him, we reverence him, we're proud of him!

and Conscientious

Councilors and Aides make many things possible "within these doors". The Student Council sets the standard for Christian conduct at all times. Members of the S. C. have a deep appreciation and understanding of the high ideals of "Pius X". They endeavor to live by those ideals on all occasions at all times.

Library and cafeteria aids, our untiring maintenance men, and an enthusiastic athletic board contribute to the good order and well-being of PXHS.

Miss Tumolo, Librarian, overlooks Stevann Barczynski's work on the card files. Juanita Dunbar, Donna Sartor, John Ferrazzano, Arthur De Thomas, Filomena Di Giacamo, and Robert Dotta have found just what they were looking for.

The blue and white ribbon people, our Student Council, meet with Father Loeper to discuss things pertinent to the good order of our school. Standing: Stevann Barczynski — Vice-President, Franklin Graziano — President, Patricia Guida — Secretary. Seated: Maureen Pritchard, Father Loeper, Margaret Orlando, Harry Kachline — Treasurer, Michael Capobianco, Alexander Kristof, Robert Del Grosso, James Talotta.

Familiar faces: Mr. Daniel Zito and Mr. John Zito, our efficient maintenance men.

Within These Doors

The Spiritual . . .

While Father Loeper offers the Holy Sacrifice, the student body join in the recitation of the ordinary of the Mass, and Father Graff reads the proper.

Stevann Barczynski and Franklin Graziano welcome Retreat Master, Father Eugene Tucker, S.J. September 30, October 1 and 2 were three happy and beneficial retreat days for the entire student body.

The Dialogue Mass is a joy to every Piuster's heart. Weekly we participate in the great Sacrifice—right here “with-in these doors”; and although we may stumble over “. . . suscipe deprecationem” or “. . . consubstantiallem Patri”, we know that God loves our humble efforts and accepts our sacrifice.

The students who are to receive Holy Communion place unconsecrated hosts into the ciborium before Mass begins. Robert Bush and Kathleen Diorio are going to receive the Holy Eucharist this morning.

Many Piusters avail themselves of the opportunity of receiving Holy Communion at our weekly Wednesday 11:10 A.M. Mass. Arthur De Thomas receives from Father Loeper.

Mount Carmel Church, just across the street, is the scene of after-school "pop" visits and Tuesday confessions. Pamela Peifly, Arthur De Thomas, Leonard Gruppo, Barbara Trigiani, Lucille Bavaria, and Bill Ortoski prepare themselves for the Sacrament of Penance.

Paula Mondello, Phil Kozlowski, Janet De Pizzol, and Nick Talotta answer the responses as Father Loeper blesses the Christmas tree.

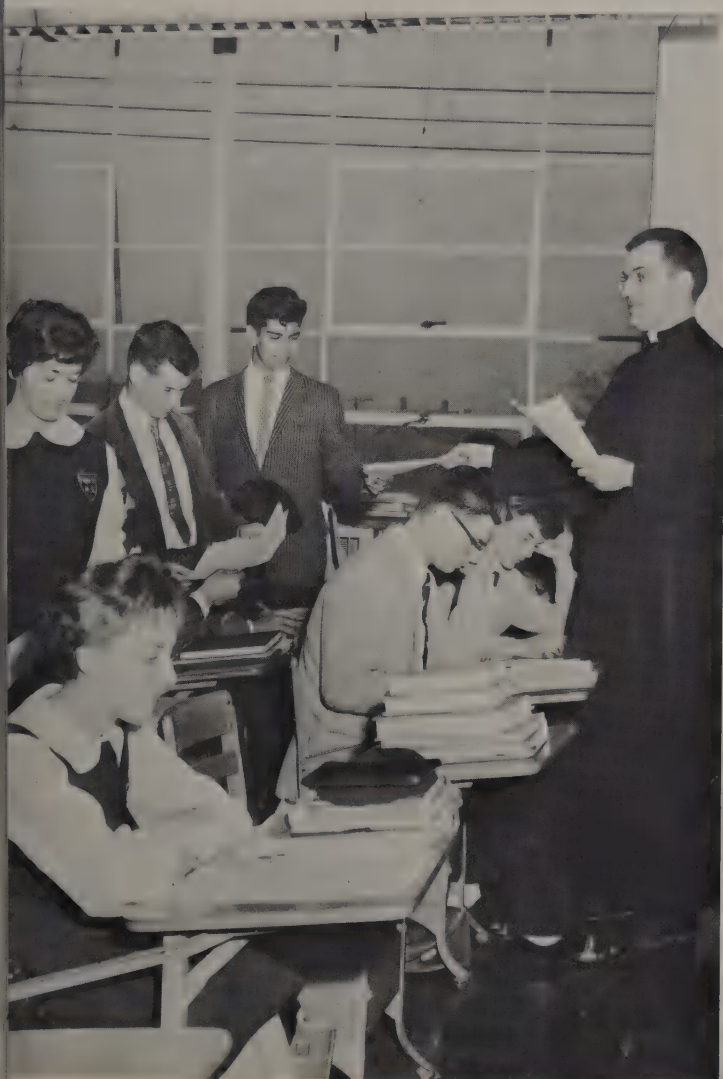

Is of Paramount Importance . . .

As the assembly sang "Silent Night", a group of students portrayed the Christmas story in tableau.

Spiritual activities at Pius X form the core of the curriculum. Some are traditional, like the blessing of class rings, the blessing of the Christmas tree, the annual retreat; others, like the various monthly projects of the Mary Help of Christians Sodality, are current. The weekly Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and reception of Holy Communion are the foundations upon which all others rest. All fulfill a need, subjectively and objectively, in that they nourish our longing for God and the things of God. What more could we ask?

Collecting homework is a very important part of Father Loeper's Senior Religion class. Frances Piergallini, Harry Kachline, and Joseph Duvo help gather the assignments.

Senior chemists Tom Tepoli, John De Nadai, Richard Reto, Matt Sabatine, and Joe Ruggiero all have an able hand in the laboratory distillation of water.

Seniors Realize . . .

Gathering facts for an English paper presents no difficulty for Phyllis Renaldo, Stevann Baczynski, Mary Eleanor Caracio, Carol Massi, and Lana Pritchard. Our Library has countless helps.

that Studies . . .

Patricia Guida explains the signs of the functions of angles in the third quadrant to Albert Caporaso and Rosemarie Falcone.

At last—the golden year—we're seniors! It seems only yesterday that as freshmen we worried about "puella-puellae" and the sum of $2a + 3a + 5a$. Now we take Trig, Chemistry, Spanish, Stenography, etc., in our stride, wishing our high school days were just beginning so we could continue to study, to socialize, and to set bigger and better records at our beloved Pius X.

It's P.A.D. time and Domenic Martino, Patricia Greene, Barry Mack, and Gene Fusakio battle it out in a Segregated Public Education panel.

Quiet—the study hall! Filomena Di Giacamo, Bill Ortoski, Philip Koslowski, and Carol Lee Kolus seem absorbed in things academic.

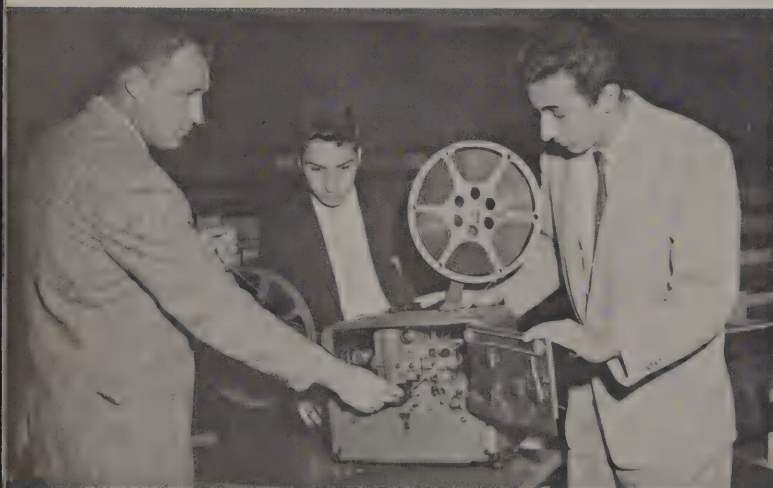

are Doorways

Physical education is not overlooked. The senior girls, under the supervision of Mrs. Gardner, strike an artistic pose for our cameraman.

Mr. Shemanski instructs Tom Tepoli and John Ferrazzano in the use of our 16 MM projector.

"Do my debits equal my credits?" ask Mary Sullivan, Frances Piergallini, and Dorothy Zavacky in a Bookkeeping II class.

John Sylvester, Ronald Striba, Louise Capobianco, Cynthia Zelenka, and Annette Greko stop to admire our prized portrait of Pope John XXIII, the gift of last year's graduating class to the school.

No wonder there are so many happy faces! Spanish students Veronica Ricevuto, Jennie Jo Zito, Frank Graziano, Mike Trigiani, Isidore De Thomas, Dave Fusakio, and other members of the class sing the Spanish version of "Jingle Bells". Even instructor Mr. Melhem is amused.

to a Successful Future

Advanced typing students Janet Baskar, Mary Sullivan, Fred La Penna, Dorothy Zavacky, and Nick Del Grosso aim for accuracy and speed as their nimble fingers run over the keyboard.

Rosemary Valetta discusses the Cavalier poets in a Junior English class. Anthony Caracio, Donato Giaquinto, Gary Baczynski, and George Giaquinto seem very interested in her well chosen remarks.

Juniors are Mindful . . .

"Can you do it another way?" Nancy Schultz asks Sharon Cotturo. Ralph De Lorenzo, Pat Finelli, Daniel Powlette, and Caroline Caporaso seek for another algebraic solution.

that Classroom Application Today . . .

All have five fingers, and on one of those fingers is a cherished class ring. William Saganich, Veronica De Rea, Rosemarie Guida, Cecilia Cascioli, and Anthony Romano seem overjoyed that their blue and gold rings have arrived at long last.

Dictation during a Stenography I class. Margaret Orlando writes "Dear Sir" at the board while future secretaries Dorothy Martino, Joanne Sylvester, Darlene Rossigno, and Francine Faraldo, too, practise the "kays" and "gays" that make for rapid business dictation.

Keeping the corridor bulletin board "live" is no problem for Sandra Falcone, Eileen Gray, and Mary Jo De Rea.

We are the "jolly juniors" whose hopes run very high. We realize we'll be the leaders of tomorrow — here at Pius X. May we live up to the splendid record set by our esteemed predecessors, the class of '60. As juniors we had to make a big decision—College? or the business world? Having made our choice, we endeavored to maintain a good record and grasp the wonderful opportunities that were ours here at Pius X.

A Latin III translation is no hardship for Maryanne Rutkowski, nor for Michael Capobianco, Ralph Lopardo, Palmina Capobianco, and Connie Capozzolo.

Spells Senior

Anthony Liberto, Ronnie De Nadai, David Paolini, and Daniel Fiorot work diligently at their Mechanical Drawing problems. Father Loeper gives special assistance to Ralph De Lorenzo.

Chemical reactions are of genuine interest to Maryanne Rutkowski, Judy Suprys, Joy Walter, and Caroline Caporaso. Is there another Madame Curie among them?

Just learning—but already these junior typists seem at home with the keyboard: Sandra Falcone, Andrea Massi, Veronica De Rea, Marietta Boscaino, Carla Giovanni, and Philip Viglione. Sister Ann Bernardine observes their progress.

Connie Sullivan doesn't lose a minute as she combines a study period with her duties as receptionist.

Security Tomorrow

Mr. Shemanski's muscle-building workouts during Phys Ed Class keep the junior-senior boys in top shape.

Senorita Adele Fisher conjugates a Spanish verb. Other sophomore seniores and senioritas check on her accuracy.

The Up and Coming

"What do you see?" ask Thomas Caracio and Bob Del Grosso as Patricia Bet, Albion Yesilonis, and Judy Singley discover the wonders of Biology through the microscope.

Favorite period — lunch. The sophomore girls are quite pleased with our new formica top tables. The cafeteria has certainly taken on a new look.

Prose and poetry via recordings are very pleasing to George Strockoz, Frank Greggo, Aloma Poloni, Carl Zito, and Marie Donna De Nardo.

Thomas D. and Thomas A. Caracio (that initial is important!) and Alexander Kristof during the change of classes.

Sophomores . . .

Latin II is made easier by Father Graff's thorough explanation. And there's always a joke or two to lighten Caesar's Gallic Wars. Aurelia Robertone, Lucy Renaldo, Robert Del Grosso, Alexander Kristof, and Patricia Bet give undivided attention to the lesson.

are Wise

"Does Angle ABC equal angle CED, if that's the case?" asks Lewis Janette of Robert Piccerillo. Classmates Charles Capozzolo, Rita Buskirk, and Joanne Guida are wondering also.

Classes in hygiene are a great help to Elizabeth Porambo, Beverly Figlioli, and Marie Powlette.

In his Religion II class Father Loeper shows some of the sacred vessels to Leonard Carrescia, Bronwin Gardner, Albert Fedon, and Ronald Perin.

in Many Ways

"Don't hold us up. We're on our way to lunch," heard from Anthony Zanette, Francis Romano, Thomas D. Caracio, Kathleen Vicario, Marie Pullo and John Mack.

Jack D'Alessandro points with pride to the K. of C. trophy won by our football team. Al Giovannini, Anthony Caligiuri, Joseph Jamilkowski, and Michael Stasak are equally proud.

The sophomores are a happy crowd. They study together, work together, and had a particularly pleasant time planning and providing the decor for the Harvest Hop. We look for wonderful things from the class of '62.

English I is made easier with a little dramatization. Richard Fusakio, Maureen Pritchard, Carol Tucker, Marie Liberto, Benny Manasseri, and Joseph Angelini read a little skit to bring home a few points in correct usage.

Pat Confalone demonstrates how to filter muddy water to interested freshmen Bill Martucci, Stephen Ferrazzano, Louis Capozzolo, James Ciliberti, Donna Carrer, and Louise Janette in Mr. Shemanski's General Science class.

Freshman Bill Martucci very capably explains the evaluation of an intricate formula to Algebra I students Judy Bavaria, Robert Greene, Elaine King, and Alfred Ruggiero.

Mornings find the freshmen in attendance at the stationery store. Mary Jo Zito and Lucille Liiro take care of customers Robert Dotta, Marie Liberto, and Carol Garafalo.

Something very new for the freshmen . . . Latin. Michelle Filingo, Pat Confalone, Sharon Dotta, and James Talotta put their heads together on a particularly difficult passage for translation.

Came, Saw . . .

and Have

Father Loeper points out a familiar passage in the Bible to Donna Communale, Francis Bartoli, James Talotta, and Judyann Caracio.

Homeward bound after a very full day, Salvatore Mondello, Peter Scarlese, Carolynne Bianco, and Juanita Dunbar board the bus for Pen Argyl.

Our freshman sacristans prepare for weekly Mass: Mary Jo Zito, Michelle Filingo, Lucille Liiro, Carol Cascioli, Marie Liberto, and Pat Sullivan.

Conquered Much Within These Doors

Roseann Breda, Nick Sylvester, Nick De Rea, and Patricia Abruzzese arrive ready for a hard day and a hearty lunch, judging by those bags.

Our school-spirited freshmen have set an enviable record for themselves during their first year at Pius. They entered into things academic, social, and spiritual with unusual zest — and their spirit has never lagged. Continue, freshmen, and at the end of your four years at PXHS you will be able to say with Caesar, "Veni, vidi, vici."

World History and map study go together. Mr. Shemanski assists Francis Bartoli, Valerie Gray, Carolynne Bianco, and Wilhelmina Finta as they trace steps in the development of our Western Civilization.

Competent CLAVES Typists Janet Baskar, Lana Pritchard, and Dorothy Zavacky.

Claves Coordinators...

The entire staff headed for the Villanova Press Conference early in the fall. All agreed that it was a pleasant and profitable outing.

Co-editors Filomena Di Giacomo and Stevann Barczynski wonder if the 1960 CLAVES will merit the awards received by last year's edition: Medalist Certificate from Columbia Scholastic Press Association, ALL CATHOLIC rating from the Catholic School Press Association, and First Class Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Pen, Polish, Proof-Read,

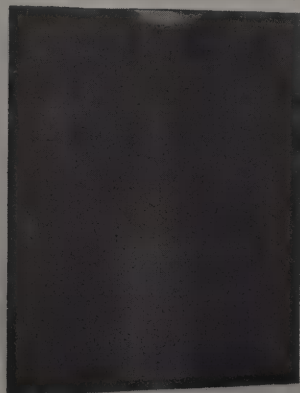

CLAVES means keys. Certainly THE CLAVES is the key that opens the doors to life within PXHS. In this year's CLAVES we have tried to recapture life as we have lived it "within these doors"—our classes, activities, the laughter which rings in our corridors, the problems we encounter, successes as well as failures. The CLAVES staff is always willing to offer new ideas and hours of hard work to make our yearbook one we Piusters and our community can be proud of.

And we couldn't get along without the business staff: Louise Capobianco, Carol Massi, Carol Lee Kolus, Rosemarie Falcone, Gene Fusakio, Patricia Guida, and Veronica Ricevuto.

Science Fair...

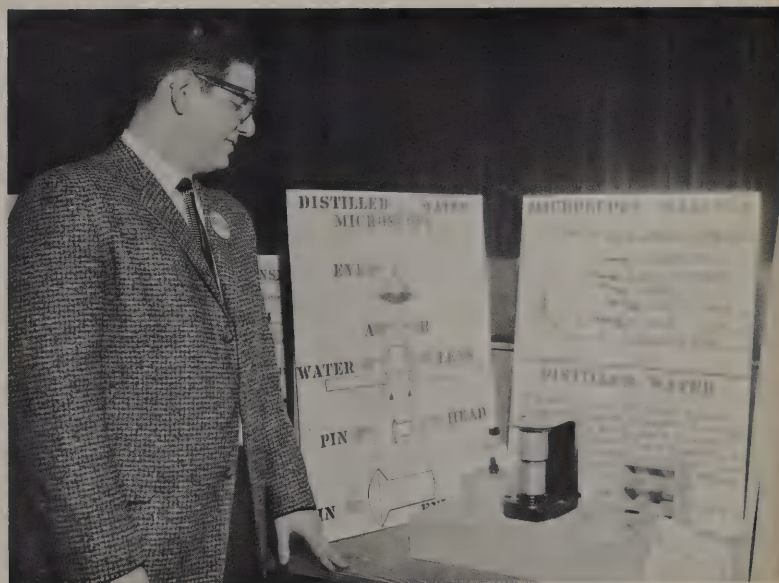

With a great deal of pride and after much preparation our doors were opened wide on Sunday, February 21, and over seven hundred parents and friends came to our second annual Open House and Science Fair. There were more than a hundred student projects dealing with engineering, chemistry, biology, and general science. These were judged by science teachers from other areas, and the winners in each division represented our school in the Lehigh Valley Science Fair at Muhlenberg College April 5-8.

Most of our visitors spent much of their time taking in the student scientific projects which were displayed in the auditorium. Soft music and a happy friendly atmosphere pervaded the corridors and classrooms that Sunday afternoon.

and Open House

A distilled water microscope is Frank Graziano's contribution to our Science Fair. Frank is quite happy about his project.

Carl Zito, Thomas Caracio, Judy Bavaria, Sharon Dotta, Rita Buskirk, and Eileen Flagge are interested in Phil Kozlowski's display designed to show the destruction caused by an A-bomb.

“The Sophomore Class did a wonderful job decorating for this Harvest Hop,” comments Caroline Caporaso to escort Philip Viglione.

Last year's Senior Prom was a "Swing into Spring." Arrangements of flowers, picket fencing, a garden enclosed, and even a swing for two provided an appropriate background for the lovely young ladies, and their handsome escorts, who were a breath of spring itself that unforgettable evening.

Anthony Caracio and Barbara Trigiani really did "swing into spring."

FOOTBALL

Defeat was NOT ours this season! For the first time in our short history the Pius X Royals enjoyed an enviable, undefeated season. Sparked by the brilliant coaching of Mr. Vincent Shemanski and his very able assistants, Co-captains Pete Zanette, Nick Del Grosso, and the entire line-up of loyal Royals piled up nine straight victories to bring fame and glory to Roseto.

Fred La Penna returns punt for a touchdown.

FAME!

Used to running into the pocket and heaving the long ones to our ends or half-backs, Domenic Martino shows that he can run, too, by keeping the ball and going around end for a first down.

Meet the Coach: MR. VINCENT SHEMANSKI.

Assistant Coach Don Carbone comforts tackle "Lumpy" Lopardo as he is taken from the game with a knee injury.

Roseto is Proud . . .

This gridiron glory was climaxed on Sunday, November 22, when the Pius X Royals, in the last game of the season, encountered their toughest opponent, Phillipsburg Parochial. The Royals faced their arch rivals with two-fold superiority. Not only did they possess remarkable skill, but also unblemished spirit—spirit that had carried them through eight straight victories. Contrary to predictions, the Royals defeated the Terriors 7-0, and yet another team was unable to score against us! We salute Coach Shemanski, his assistants, and all of our boys for their remarkable record during the 1959 football season.

SENIOR STARS IN A SUCCESSFUL SEASON: First row: Barry Mack, Franklin Graziano, Richard Reto, Leonard Gruppo, Michael Trigiani. Second row: Peter Zanette, Domenic Martino, David Fusakio, John Sylvester. Third row: Nicholas Del Grosso, John De Nadai, Fred La Penna, Ronald Striba, Isidore De Thomas. They seem to be saying, "Coach, you're the greatest!"

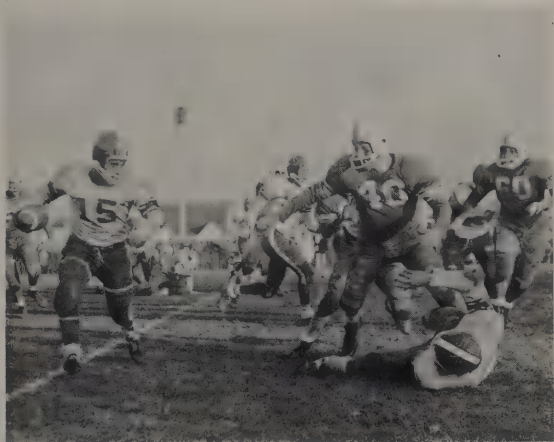

"Pete, tell those guys to run a '7-2'; keep three men back and watch the passes," was a frequent instruction of Coach Shemanski to defensive Captain Pete Zanette.

Although the Pius X Varsity basketball team had a record of only five wins as against twelve losses, the boys played a fast and colorful game throughout the '59-'60 season. A number of the defeats were so by very close scores. The Royals had several impressive victories but not easy ones. On the contrary, Pius successes were hard fought games in which outstanding team spirit was displayed. This spirit was especially predominant during the second encounter with P'burg Parochial. Although we lost this game in the last few seconds, the Royal spirit was enough to inspire anyone.

This year Pius won a berth in the P.C.I.A.A. playoffs. We faced Bethlehem Catholic in the opening contest and bowed to the Becahi squad. Although the record established for the season was not of great magnitude, as far as records go, it does prove one thing. The Royal basketball team is slowly building, and within the next few years should develop into a formidable five.

The JV basketball squad established an outstanding record during the '59-'60 season. The sharp shooting of Albion Yesilonis and George Giaquinto together with the splendid team work of the other lads led to the enviable record of 13 wins against 4 defeats. The Junior Varsity team is only in its second year of competition; therefore, the Pius X basketeers in the seasons to come should prove a stumbling block for all opponents on the court.

Rosemarie Falcone heaves a good one right into the net. This was the "thriller" game of the season. Notre Dame, having defeated us in the first encounter, bowed to the Pius hoopsters, and the final score was 22-21.

Up, up, up . . . and another two points for us. Paula Mondello is right on her toes in this spectacular game with Notre Dame.

with the Girls

The '59-'60 girls' basketball season was a very gratifying and successful one, although not without some defeats. The record was seven wins and five losses. Hard work on the part of our coach, Mrs. Gardner, and each member of the squad had its good effects. The team displayed greater unity, spirit, and ability than ever before. But whether we win or lose, good sportsmanship is our goal . . . and the girls have it!

Basketball season over, and the boys begin batting, pitching, and catching to the tune of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." Spring was late in arriving this year, necessitating much indoor practice before the first game of the season. Mr. Shemanski's call for baseball prospectives was enthusiastically received, and it looks as though the Royal Nine + are headed for a good season.

Coach Shemanski gives Domenic Martino and David Paolini a few last minute instructions before the game with Belvidere.

on the Diamond...

Those expressions spell anxiety as the score breaks even in the opener of the season with Belvidere.

Domenic Martino guards the plate on a passed ball . . . and the runner didn't score.

Within These Doors

PIUS X HIGH SCHOOL

O Teacher of Christian Truth, our Beloved Exemplar, Pope Pius X, of happy memory, we walk through the doors of our school (yours and the students'), striving in our four short years to become living seals of purity, piety, and loyalty — pure of mind and body, heart and soul; pious in that we place the spiritual above the temporal, endeavoring to restore all things in Christ; loyal to our Church and to its principles, to our country and to its ideals. Aid us, Beloved Patron, to inculcate these virtues into our lives so that passing through the doors of Pius X High School, we may go into life undaunted champions of the Catholic faith and loyal citizens of this great country of ours.

To you, dear Pope of the Eucharist, we dedicate our yearbook — hoping it will serve as an encomium, made manifest by the existence of Pius X High School, by its active principles, and by its accomplishments.
